

love is giving love is carring love is living love is sharing

Who would be so bold

As to attempt

The writing of something

As precious as a memory?

There are no words

capable of reproducing

it effectively.

It takes the mind .

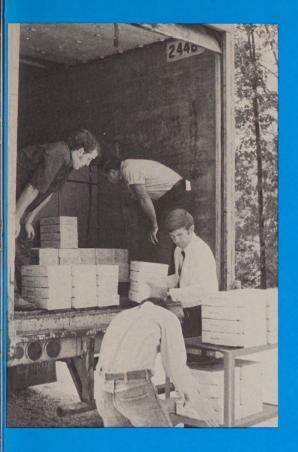

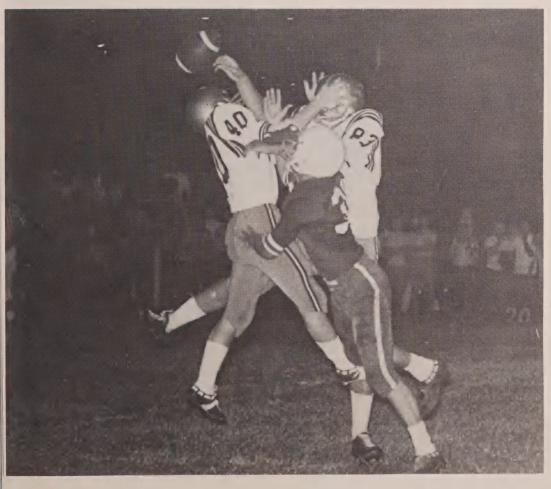

And we will use them.

And we will fly.

Our imagination has been fixed by a self-ewareness.

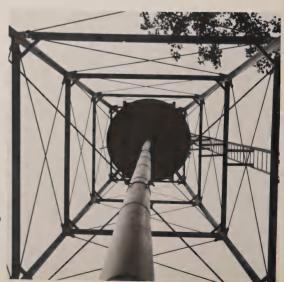

Now we have the freedom.

That poets try so blindly to define.

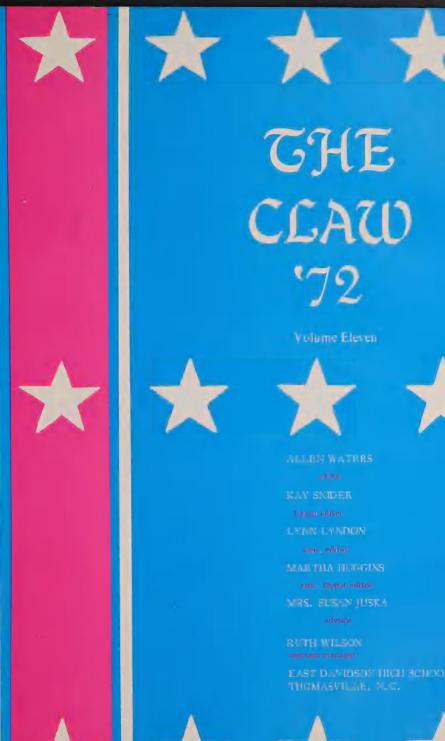

So we must taste this freedom

And sing its song.

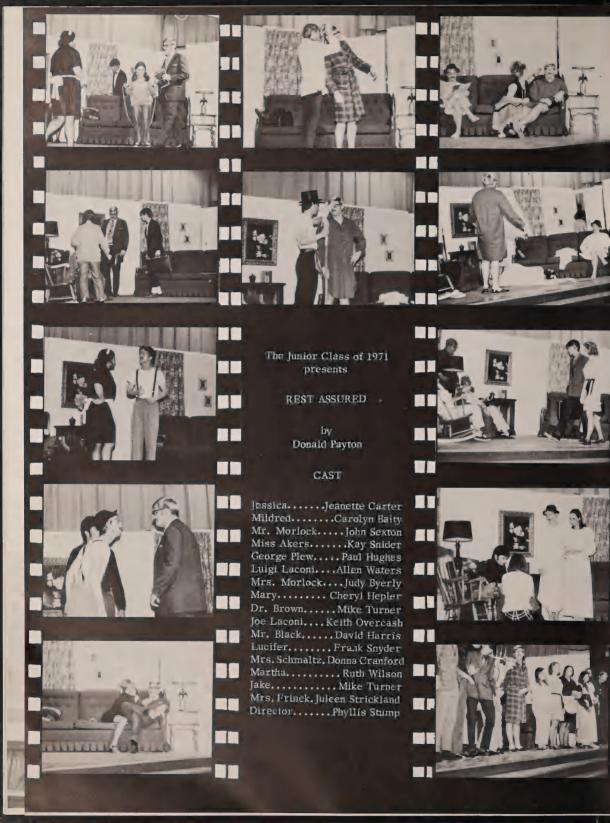

Rare is the challenge of "doing" a reality. Yet rare is a woman. . . a genuine "doer". . . a "gogetter". . . for the mere betterment of humanity. Initiative, ability, and endless power; all are innate attributes of such a woman.

She gives herself totally in making the last minute preparations for those Seniors as they step into the horizons of the future. She is one who shapes the outlook of students to a more confident and more mature view of lite.

She lives faithfully by her philosophy of life "Life is ninety percent of what you make it and ten per cent of how you take it."

For her years of service and friendship to those at East, we dedicate this the 1972 Claw to Mrs. Carol Long.

PREPARATORY OFFICE OCCUPATIONS PROGRAM

The Preparatory Office Occupations Program is designed for business students who have had a course in basic business, one or two years of typewriting, shorthand and/or bookkeeping, and business mathematics. This course is offered during the senior year.

The "POOP" Program consists of one period of classroom work which includes textbook study and learning to operate different type of machines such as the ten-key adding machine, printing calculator, mimeograph machine, mimeoscope, spirit duplicator, and transcribing machine.

The Program also consists of another period which we call the working period. During this period, the "POOP" students do all types of clerical office work the offices of the school and the teachers of the school. All of this work must consist of office type work.

The classroom is set up like an office and this gives the students actual office experience; therefore, we feel they are much better prepared to enter the office after graduation.

The Journalism Department is made up of two branches: the newspaper, the QUILL, and the year-book, the CLAW. Students are dedicated to both staffs. Identifying pictures, deciding on and carrying out a theme, writing copy, and planning layouts are all a routine part of working as a member of the QUILL and CLAW staffs.

News of interest to students is gathered by each QUILL reporter, who pays close attention to the who, what, when, where, and why elements. All members of the staffs are kept extremely busy organizing and editing for publication.

You're crazy, coach, if you think I'm going back out there!

Raindrops keep falling on my head; ears, toes. . . .

No standing ovations, please.

Run for your life!

Oh come on, there's no such thing as ghosts

Yes, but I thought you knew which goal was ours.

Get it, Stinky!

You hold him and we'll fold him!

Hey coach, where's the white knight?
